An athletic Philadelphian named Paul Harmon, a young man of exemplary habits, is a clever boxer, a fine wrestler and has won several medals in athletic sports. Curiously, however, although his muscular system has always seemed to be in splendid condition, his experiences in training have shouldered. As a consequence, he at one time became a severe sufferer from dyspepsia and his blood appeared to have become impure. It was a friend, who was also an athlete, who first directed his attention to Ripans Tablets. He made trial of them and has continued to use them ever since, and says of them: "I can sincerely recommend Ripans Tablets to those who suffer from any disturbance of the stomach, liver or from any nervous disorder which proceeds from these annoying causes. They helped me wonderfully and I have always found that a single one gives relief."

GOLIN HABEAS CORPUS CASE HEARD.

Judge Cavin Hears the Case and Admits Golin to Bail in the Sum of $10,000.

The Golin habeas corpus case came up before Judge Cavin yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, and was submitted on the evidence given on the last trial and contained in the statement of facts, excepting the evidence of witness, Mrs. Wilkins. The indictment was also submitted as a matter of evidence, and Judge Cavin, after a thorough examination, decided to admit the defendant to bail in the sum of $10,000, to which the defendant's attorney excepted, stating that it was a matter of record that Golin could give only a $5000 bond.

Mr. Brockman, for the defense, made a short speech to the court, in which he made a strong point in the statement that Golin, if he had intended murder, would never have left his wife alive, so that she could talk before the injuries produced death. He further urged that if Golin had struck her and she had fallen out of the chair onto the tin cans, and afterwards died from the injuries received, that there would be no express malice, and consequently that the defendant must be admitted to bail. Judge Cavin then made the decision above stated. Golin is the man who is charged with having murdered his wife, an old and feeble woman at their home on Peters ally in the Fifth ward.

The testimony introduced at the last trial was to the effect that Golin went home on the night of May 20 about 3 o'clock; that from there he went to the place of A. Fischer, a saloon keeper, and in company they went back to Golin's house, where his wife was found lying on the floor badly wounded; that Fischer told Golin that he was accused of the murder, and Golin thereupon disappeared and was subsequently arrested in St. Louis; that Golin left $118.65 in money in his house, and $1925 in T. W. House's bank, which circumstance, the defense claimed, clearly showed that he was not a murderer, but a man who was further proven to be a man of few errors. The mandate returned too late for the June term and the case was continued again on account of the fever scare, so that it will not now come up for the new trial until the December term.

WINE OF CARDUI

Earnest Recommendations.

DUBBS, Tunica Co., Miss., March 29, 1897.

I owe my life to Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught. May God bless you for the good I have received. The results were wonderful in my case. I hope you will put the medicine in reach of all suffering women.

DORA GOODWIN.

MAINE, Sedgewick Co., Kansas, April 2nd, 1897.

I was in terrible agony from my monthly sickness for four years. I had heart palpitation and my nervous system was all upset. The doctors feared I had consumption. By reading the testimonial about Wine of Cardui, I became convinced they were what I needed and gave them a trial. As a result I am now a well woman. The relief came promptly.

JULIA C. BROOKS.

CONWAY, Ark., April 4, 1897.

I have used one bottle of Wine of Cardui with great satisfaction. I was real sick over seven months and could get no relief. I read in the Ladies' Birthdays Almanac about Wine of Cardui and decided to try it. I commenced March 1st and am now able to do my work.

Mrs. FANNIE COLBORE.

These earnest letters show that Wine of Cardui cures suffering women. It is wonderful to think that women who have been in agony for months should find complete relief in a few days from this simple medicine. And Wine of Cardui is offered all suffering women. They can take it in the privacy of their own homes. About two thousand women buy it every day. And nearly every one of them is cured by it. They take it for "whites", bearing-down pains, suppression, flooding, painful and irregular monthly periods, and all ovarian and uterine troubles. It enables many women who consider themselves barren to bring healthy children into the world. For the turn of life it has no superior. You are invited to try Wine of Cardui.
